Library AudioPODs are audio recordings (podcasts) about some of our services and resources which you can download to your computer, iPod/mp3 player or mobile phone (where enabled). There are a lot of Library AudioPODs to choose from. Our newest addition is the introduction to Library services and resources for the University Open Day on 01 September 2009; but can we suggest you also listen to LibCast, the podcast magazine for Library & Historic Collections or view our e-magazine HeadLines?

Accompanying each audio file is a transcript and, for the tours, relevant floor plans (indicating stops on the tour) for you to download and print off. Paper copies of floor plans can also be obtained from the Reception Desk at the entrance to the Library and on all floors.

Those of you with mp3 players can download the audio files via the mp3 links: if you have a new generation player that can display graphics and links to web pages, download the files via the m4a links.

If you are unsure how to download the files, please follow the instructions below:
